Hammond Tells "Cotton King" a Few Things While Testifying.

EPITHETS FLY AT TRIAL FOR LIBEL

Mining Man Calls Broker "Underhanded" In His Dealings.

"Unmitigated lie," "surreptitious and underhanded." and "irresponsible," are a few compliments of John Hays Hammond being remembered today by Daniel J. Sully, the New York "cotton king," who is suing Hammend for $1,500,000 for alleged defamation of character.

Hammond excoriated Sully in testimony yesterday afternoon before Chanvery Examiner Harper, at the hearing asked by Sully prior to Hammond's departure for Europe as special ambassador of the United States at the coronation of King George V. He did not finish his testimony yesterday, and will appear for further examination April He will also submit numerous telegrams and contracts with Sully referring to their negotiations for sale of patent rights to the new cotton gin of William D. Doremus, of Washington.

Appointment of Sully as syndicate manager to sell the foreign patent rights to the Hirsch syndicate of London was admitted by Hammond. "I thought I had him under control."

said Hammond. 'He took us in," he continued, retorting to a question of Sully's attorney asking if Hammond "took in" Sully to

"That was an unmitigated fle," Hammond declared angrily, with his eyes glaring at Sully, denouncing as false a cablegram of Sully telling of the sale of the gin patents to the English capital-

A private partnership contract between himself and Sully for the sale of foreign rights to the patent was admitted Hammond, denying, however, that the contract permitted Sully to sell any of the corporate stock.

"Surreptitious and underhanded" misrepresentation of the commercial value Doremus gin was charged to Sully by Hammond in his testimony. Hammond said Sully always declared the new gin was completely successful, although it was without commercial

This afternoon Sully admitted the truth of Hammond's charge that he had lied in sending a bogus cablegram tell-ing of the sale of the patents to the Hirsch syndicate of London. Hirsch syndicate of London.

"After eighteen months of partnership, I was constantly flooded with platitude and fake promises, none of which he kept so I did, with premedi-

Sully also says Hammond knew the purpose of the communication, and did not place any reliance upon it.

Negro Gets Two Years

To stop depredations in vacant houses of Washington by severe punishment of criminals was the intention announced today by Justice Wright in Criminal Court No. 1, in sentencing Frank West, a negro, to two years in the penitentiary for such an offense. "I'm going to stop this thing of you fellows causing $100 worth of damage in a house to steal 5 cents' worth of junk," said Justice Wright.

"The crime stands on a plane with the snatching of women's pocketbooks and deserves 'the limit' in punishment," Justice Wright declared.

West pleaded guilty to stealing lead pipe from a vacant house.

Antonio Sacrini Sent To Prison for Life

West. Elec. Man.... 66 66 66

Life imprisonment was the sentence imposed today by Justice Wright in the District Supreme Court on Antonio Sacrini, an Italian, convicted of murder in the second degree in connection with the death of Charles J. Chipman on December 31. Chipman was stabbed. The murder occurred in a house on Delaware avenue during a quarrel. "You took Chipman's life without any excuse or justification, said Justice Wright to Saofini in pronouncing sentence.
"If the jury had not believed you made threats in a spirit of bravado there was sufficient evidence to warrant a verdict of first degree murder. Your crime merits imposition of the exreme penalty-life imprisonment."

Assistant United States District Atorney Turner obtained the conviction of Sacrini, who was defended by Attorney G. Gwynn Gardiner.

Beaten, Robbed, Bound On Pile of Burning Ties

WHEELING, W. Va., April 7 .- Beaten nto insensibility, robbed of $300, and his body rolled over a roaring bonfire of cross ties, presumably to be roasted to death, was the harrowing experience a young Italian, whose name as yet has not been learned, was forced to under-go near Cameron, a few miles south of Early today, while Bud Wise, an em-ploye of the South Pennsylvania Oil Company, was walking near the rail-road tracks, he noticed the light of a bondre. Walking over to the spot, he found the unconscious Italian lying next to some ties that had not yet become ignited. Wise notified the police.

After rendering medical aid, the young man was removed to the Glendale Hospital. He may die.

BONDS IN DEMAND ON LOCAL MARKET . TO OPEN MONDAY

80 3-4-Bank Shares Firm.

Investment business continued quite active on the local market, bonds being n good demand. In the stock list the cature was the renewed strength in Washington Gas. The effort to make fractional advances between 80 and 81 ha sbeen a long and tiresome one with more or less frequent backsets, and con-tinued offering of the stock. The large holdings of certain interests, and the foldings of certain interests, and the fact that so many people have the stock with a good fat profit in their favor that appeals to them every little while, is making the progress slow. The Street believes that the dividend can and will be maintained. The stock touched its high on this movement at 80%, or within 14 of a point of the highest price on record. It opened at 80% and closed at 80%.

SUBPOENAS ISSUED FOR LEGISLATORS IN LORIMER CASE

Gas Stock Advanced to W. A. Boss Company and State Chairman Helm Says Investigation Is to Be Thorough.

SPRINGFIELD, III., April 7.-Asserting that the legislative bribery investigation committee is determined to find what the men who voted for William Lorimer for the United States Senate know about the alleged $100,000 jackpot said to have been used in his election, State Senator , W. J. Helm, chairman of the investigators, today ordered subpoenas issued for a number of legislators. "Not all of the legislators who voted for Lorimer in the twenty-sixth general assembly have been summoned," said Helm, "but quite a number have. I cannot say whether the remainder who cast their ballots for him will be summoned." The legislators summoned are expected to appear at the next session of the committee here next Thursday. State Senator Helm said today that the committee would hold no secret session before that time, and that there would before that time, and that there would be no meeting in Chicago.

Rumors that the committee will go to Washington to endeavor to take the tea-timony of former United States Senator Nelson A. Aldrich circulated here today. Edward Hines, the "lumber king," tea-tified that he used his influence to se-cure the election of Lorimer at the per-sonal solicitation of Aldrich, who, he said, "he was led to believe was acting for President Taft."

Friends of United States Senator Wil-

Friends of United States Senator Wilriends of United States Senator William Lorimer today started a movement to place Lieutenant Governor Ogitsby on the investigating committee, since they have failed to stop the pagsage of the bill apprepriating $15,000 for use of the investigating committee.

The movement is the result of numer-ous conferences of the Lorimer forces last night and yesterday following the $100,000 jackpot evidence of Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the Interna-tional Harvester Company.

Clerks' Bouquet Supply Suddenly Cut Short

Women employes who are assigned to offices in the experimental building of the Bureau of Plant Industry at Fourteenth and B freets southwest, or in buildings contiguous, will wear fewer ouquets than some of them have worn during the past few weeks. According to one of the officials of the experimental department, some of the employes of the Agricultural Department have been in the habit of passing through the rooms in which were kept various specimens of roses with which experiments were being made in an effort to make them hardier and more frequent bloomers. As some of the clerks passed through the rooms they are said to have appropriated the flowers to wear home as bouquets.

It was not known just where the flowers were going until the watchman observed the clerks taking them. Since then the rooms in which the flowers were kept have been locked.

Rosenheimer Mansion Is Destroyed by Fire

PELHAM MANOR, N. Y., April 7 .-The large country mansion of Edward Rosenheimer, known as The Roses, was destroyed by fire today. The loss is $100,000. A caretaker, who was the sole occupant, jumped from a second-story window to escape the flames. He was caught by a policeman.

Rosenheimer, who inherited a fortune from his father, who was murdered in the garden surrounding The Roses, was recently acquitted of murder following the killing of Grace Hough in a col-lision between Rosenheimer's auto and a wagon in which the young woman was riding.
